Study of the Spiritual intelligence role in University Students’ Quality of Life

Recently, “World Health Organization” concerned about the peoples’ quality of life, and emphasized on its improving. The aim of this study is investigate to the spiritual intelligence role on Qochan university students’ quality of life. The instruments of the data collecting are World Health Organization Quality of Life (WHOQOL) and Spiritual Intelligence Questionnaire. For analyzing the data, were used mean, standard deviation, and Pearson’s correlation coefficient in descriptive level, and in inferential level the regression test (enter method) was used. The results of the study show that the spiritual intelligence has effective role on quality of life predicting. Therefore, it concluded that the spirituality has the effectiveness role in Qochan University students’ quality of life.

Keywords: Intelligence, spirituality, spiritual intelligence, quality of life